On behalf of the Organizing Committee, it is great honor of us to invite you to the 35th World Congress of the Int’l Society for Education through Art_ InSEA 2017.

If there is one thing for sure that anybody can’t resist its coming as real in this contemporary era, we are to say that it is the digital phenomena. The unprecedented velocities of change and ranges of innovation initiated by digital can’t be fathomed with easy. To that extent, our society has faced with gigantic wave named as digital, and it encompasses education too.

We can’t help but to admit that there is the very needs to deal with such digital issue in full gear. It is because that a full burgeoning of digital in every nook of society as well as education has been giving birth to various meanings and interpretations, possibilities and problems, hopes and anxieties which are beyond our predictions.

The relationship between digital and art education is not just a matter of methodology nor technology, rather it is a matter of spirituality and humanity also. With captivated by such terms as spirit, art and digital, the narratives of coexistence are defining a new zeitgeist and a key formula for survival of art education.

The organizing committee is exerting their utmost effort in preparing for the congress in order to offer an ideal venue for in-depth analyses and wide range of discussions on current issues and topic in the field of Art Education.

We await your active participation in the InSEA 2017, which will be another major step forward for the field of Art Education. As an international city and as the colorful city in Korea, Daegu is famous not only for its unique character and culture, but also for its hospitality and scenery. We earnestly look forward to welcoming all of you to Korea, a country that cherishes its 5,000 year of history.

Once again, welcome to InSEA 2017!

Yongilin Moon Ph.D.
President, InSEA 2017

Jeunghee Kim Ph.D.
Congress Chair, InSEA 2017
On behalf of the International Society for Education through Art, it is my great pleasure to bring greetings to the participants of the 35th InSEA World Congress.

InSEA is a non-governmental organization and official partner of the United Nations Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Organization (UNESCO), it is a worldwide association of those concerned with Education through Art.

It is a time for educators to reflect upon the effects of digital technology in cultural and educational contexts from an humanistic point of view, to discuss how Education through Art can develop literacies, values and citizenship. Educators are searching for new strategies in an effort to reach across cultures, to encourage inter-cultural respect, and to nurture an inexhaustible quest for understanding and mindfulness. As arts educators we are well positioned to advocate for the benefits of the arts in formal and informal educational contexts: schools, museums, cultural sites; community centres; institutions and other educational organizations. Education through Art is utterly needed in our knowledge-based, post-industrial societies that require citizens with confident flexible intelligences, creative verbal and non-verbal communication skills, abilities to think critically and imaginatively.

Education through Art has been advocating for cultural emancipation through critical thinking using artistic methodologies. Art educators can help to develop digital literacy by engaging learners in critical ways of seeing and making. Education through Art infuses questions on how to make, how to interpret existing multimedia cultural products, how to produce or remix it, and how to distribute it. Arts based pedagogy, especially with contemporary art practices in education raise questions about Spirituality: Conscientiousness and Intelligence, about how can we survive in the techno-economical discourses. It helps to create intermediate spaces for ethic and aesthetic action and reflection in our particular places. Such practices can encourage awareness of how technology and media are influenced by commercial considerations, and how they impinge on content, technique, and distribution raising debate about ownership and control. They engage people in active learning and creative questioning, stimulate interdisciplinary study and participatory decision making. These are essential capacities and skills to build participatory democracies.

As a member of a solid community of people committed to Education through Art, I welcome all those who are here, willing to think about the digital era in arts and education and to discuss ideas to improve our strategies and actions in order to reclaim excellent art education programs in our cities, our countries and our regions. It is my personal hope that the shared conversations during the congress will inspire all of us to use our knowledge, skills and experiences to impact on educational research and praxis at local and global levels.

With gratitude and appreciation.

Teresa Torres de Eca.
President, InSEA
The International Society for Education Through Art (InSEA) is a non-governmental organization and official partner of the United Nations Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Organization (UNESCO). InSEA is an association on a worldwide basis of those concerned with education through art is necessary in order that they may share experiences, improve practices and strengthen the position of art in relation to all education; International co-operation and the better understanding between peoples would be furthered by a more completely integrated design and permanent structure for the diffusion of beliefs and practices concerning education through art. InSEA has established an international community dedicated to advocacy, networking and the advancement of research in art education providing a world-wide networking platform to the members.

InSEA was legally incorporated in Franklin County Ohio (USA) on 4 February 2009 as a nonprofit organization whose purpose is to encourage and advance creative education through arts and crafts in all countries and promote international understanding, and following directions issued to the treasurer at the World Congress in Osaka the Society subsequently has made application to the United States Internal Revenue Service for recognition as a tax exempt charitable educational and cultural organization.
If there is one thing for sure that anybody can’t resist its coming as real in this contemporary era, we are to say that it is the digital phenomena. The unprecedented velocities of change and ranges of innovation initiated by digital can’t be fathomed with easy. To that extent, our society has faced with gigantic wave named as digital, and it encompasses education too. Policies and agendas issued by governments, institutes or individuals in many countries are the examples. Indeed, our students have spent their entire lives from birth surrounded by and using digital gadgets as such computers, smart phones, tablet P.Cs, internet, digital music players, video cams, etc.

This means that our students are well acquainted with digital technology, but also implies that they think and learn differently. As Prensky(2001) puts this generation as ‘Digital Natives’, our students today are all native speakers of the digital language, and they are so different from ‘Digital Immigrants’ like us.

Then, what about art class? Are we safe from this grand challenge of digital natives and digital environments? The advent of digital technology has propound ramifications for art education and its practices. It is believed that a new paradigm is coming. In this juncture, dealing with the issue of digital in InSEA has not been the first nor new at all. At least for about 10 years since 2002 New York Congress, issue of digital has been dealt with in terms of media, new technologies, virtual art spaces, etc.

Nevertheless, we can’t help but to admit that there is the very needs to deal with such digital issue in full gear. It is because that a full burgeoning of digital in every nook of society as well as education has been giving birth to various meanings and interpretations, possibilities and problems, hopes and anxieties which are beyond our predictions. Where the possibilities of art education and its hyper connectedness should be headed? And is it okay that we embrace such high-tech as bliss of era in art education? What problems and obstacles have been generated with the digital?
As we imagine, the digital reflects contemporary arts and art education environment savvy with high-technology. The digital possibility has de-constructed and re-constructed of ideologies in education along with massive changes. At the same time, such digital has been causing great attentions on the matter of spirituality in art education. When looking back upon its treatment of digital in art education, digital has been dealt with in terms of technology, futuristic competencies, active adaptation to rapid changes of era, etc.

But these aspects reflect the capitalistic approaches to art education on the other hand, it implies that students and competencies are seen from the perspective of capitalism’s nuance. In this context, art education is apt to be dealt as a tool not purpose, a capital resources not spirituality and humanity.

With this in mind, the relationship between digital and art education is not just a matter of methodology nor technology, rather it is a matter of spirituality and humanity also. What possibilities and problems does digitally imbued art education make? What roles can art education play in better way with digital? Where can spirituality be in digital in the context of art education? With captivated by such terms as spirit, art and digital, the narratives of coexistence are defining a new zeitgeist and a key formula for survival of art education.

With the fine transportation network linked in all directions, it is a point leading to numerous cultural heritages and tourist attractions to well display Korean culture. So, it has been the center of history, administration, education, and culture of Korea.

Venue
EXCO, the official congress venue for InSEA 2017, launched as the first regional exhibition and convention center in April 2001, has hosted various exhibitions and convention events.

Tip & Tax
Tipping is not a regular practice in Korea. Service charges are included in your bill for rooms, meals, and other services at hotels and upscale restaurants. Koreans occasionally do tip when they are especially pleased with the service they receive. Value-added tax (VAT) is levied on most goods and services at a standard rate of 10% and is included in the retail price. In tourist hotels, this 10% tax applies to rooms, meals, and other services, and is included in the bill.

Performance Overview

In this video installation piece, the physical phenomena of nature—water, light, wind, and sound—are imbued with human emotions. The piece depicts the flow of light and time with dynamic images, and thereby expresses the very basis of psychological transformations that take place when the matter and the mind intersect with each other.

Performance Overview
In celebration of InSEA 2017 Daegu, a flying paper airplane performance will be held to wish for hope, communication, and peace as we return to the innocence of childhood.

How To
• Upon registration, you will be given a sheet of paper to make a paper airplane (A4-sized paper / random colors).
• Write your name & message and make a paper airplane. Keep it with you for five days and cast a spell on it to make your wish come true.
• We will fly the paper airplanes together on the 11st of August (Friday) in 2017 during the Closing Ceremony.
• Do not fly your paper airplane alone at the hotel or on the street before the scheduled event so that the spectacular moment of dozens of floating paper airplanes are in the air can be shared.
• If you don’t make it on the day of the event on the 11st, please place your airplane in a special box to allow someone else to fly your airplane on your behalf.
• A special gift will be given to the lucky few that will be chosen during the Closing Ceremony.

Performance Overview

This project is inspired by Wall of Memories (2015) by Kyu Chul Ahn. Collection of the moments which are memorable to you during the InSEA 2017 world congress constitutes this wall and becomes a story. Looking back upon your experience at the congress, write a word that comes to you on the colored index card handed out by exhibition guide. The card will be put up on the wall as the part of a mural consisting of 1800 colored index cards. While others’ will be pasted on top of your card, this mural will become an animation phrase of poetry.

Dear participant of the World Congress of InSEA in Daegu, South Korea, 2017,
You are kindly invited to join “The Third InSEA Art Exchange initiative” to be held in the corridors of the main congress venue in Daegu Congress Center.
The basic purposes of this idea/initiative are:
• to encourage art educators – delegates of the InSEA South Korea Word Congress – to make and bring their personal creative art in Daegu and to exchange it with art of the other art educators,
• to make and foster International friendship, professional contacts and networks,
• to stress and celebrate the importance of art educators’ art making,
• to give ideas for a possible upgrading in different art educational context in the world,
• to advocate for the visual/fine arts education in the World’s Educational Agenda,
• to learn, to teach, to think and to have fun.
Be a piece of the Daegu InSEA Art Exchange world mosaic! Welcome!

A motto of this ARTEXCHANGE exhibition
(to paraphrase a past philosopher René Descartes):

‘I am an InSEA ARTIST, therefore I exist’

InSEA2017 Selfie Project

A Virtual Exhibition of/for/by the InSEA2017 Participants with an Idea of Tom Anderson, USA

This project is inspired by Tom Anderson’s Socially Conscious Selfie Project in 2015. The purpose of InSEA2017 selfie project is to share your thoughts and to show a comprehensive picture of community participating on this congress.

How to:
During the period of InSEA2017 World Congress, take a selfie everyday and upload it to your personal Instagram with a word that represents your day and with #selfie_insea.

"My assumption is that the collective images and statements will give us a fairly comprehensive picture of community and the concerns at least of the community participating on this site. Also having the potential to contribute to this community construction is a blog discussion board, on which I hope you will engage in dialogue with each other particularly about how this site can promote activity that addresses and goes beyond (the typical?) narcissistic and myopic imagery associated with selfies."

Marble-ous
Graduation Projects of the Digital Media Design Department, Hongik University
by the Digital Media Design Department, Hongik University, Korea

‘Marble-ous’ is a hybrid word pairing ‘marbling’ – an art technique achieved by accident, or chance,’ and ‘marvelous,’ meaning ‘an unpredictable and delightful surprise.’ It recognizes the creative work of students in the Digital Media Design Department who produce new and surprising projects, adapting to a rapidly changing world.

3 Selective Projects: MR(Mixed Reality); VR(Virtual Reality); and Integrated Branding design – provide a flavor of discoveries in the world of design.

Global Dream Vision Interaction Arts Education for the Contribution to Global Society by Fostering the Abilities of Human Art Activities in People
by Emiko Ota, Shinichi Sugahara, Japan

It is a goal for me to bring up people with a real pride to say clearly, “I am wholly responsible for meeting the challenge of the 21st century through humanities arts education”.
In fact, school students got sick and lost self-control due to the undernourishment in the mind. This let me to a firm decision to take up that goal. About 20-year process of repeating trial and error together with students led the birth of the world’s first training procedure, which offers students vision for realizing dreams and ambitions on a global scale. This training plan was named as “Global Dream Vision Interaction (GDVI)” arts education. This Approach enables students to broaden their views on the world and people, to find their goals which constitute the nucleus of their life, and to start training toward these goals. This is the real training necessary for the very students who go forth into the world where no answer has been prepared.
GDVI is designed to heighten the level of training through 6 stages step by step. My students, who had given credence to me, carried out the training seriously all the way. I have nothing but appreciation for their excellent cooperation. The training contained a very difficult process of thinking, judging, deciding and doing on their own. However, the students, in an attempt to get an idea of “how to live their lives”, finally attained their goals by overcoming many difficulties faced in the survey research. While planning and implementing, I have had a gut feeling that any youths with ambitious never collapse. I should exhibit some research results obtained by GDVI arts educational training during this InSEA World Congress.

James H. Sanders III, Ph. D. (Jim) is an associate professor in the Arts Administration, Education and Policy Department in the College of Arts and Sciences at The Ohio State University. Dr. Sanders is author and founding principal of the Arts-Based Elementary (North Carolina Charter) School, and has incorporated five US and international educational and cultural nonprofits. Sanders came to academe after a 26-year career in non-profit arts administration; directing four differing organizations and serving as an Arkansas Arts Council Board member (appointed by then Governor Bill Clinton).

Sanders earned a Doctorate of Philosophy (Ph.D.) degree in Education (Curriculum and Instruction) at the University of North Carolina-Greensboro (1999), a Masters of Fine Arts (MFA) degree at Southern Illinois University-Carbondale (1976), and a Bachelor of Fine Arts (BFA) degree from Arkansas State University (1974). His research explores a tangle of topics involving educational policy, material and visual culture, artful inquiry in the visual and performing arts, community cultural practices, and sexualities studies. Sanders was a founding trustee of the International Curriculum and Pedagogy Group, is an engaged trustee of Ohio Citizens for the Arts, and has served as an InSEA Treasurer since 2008.

Sanders recent research expressly focuses on Chicago, USA visual artist, performer and change agent, Nick Cave’s community collaborations, art installations and performances, as orchestrated over the past twenty-five years—a time in which the artist and author have been professional collaborating and considering how the arts enrich lives, human understanding, and potentially lived circumstances. Sanders publications now in press consider Cave’s work through Feminist, Social Reconstructionist, Critical Race and Queer theoretical lenses, and as performances exploring speculative realities, and new materialist visions. Generally Dr. Sanders research examines arts policies and practices, as sites of cultural (re)production and reception that have included (auto)biographical reflections, museum management practices, community arts organization leadership, digital media, theorizing on arts education pedagogy, and arts-based education research methods. He is concerned with how meanings and values are socially constructed, contested, and might work toward human rights and social justice ends.

She is also a regular speaker at conferences and events, both internationally and nationally.

Over the last two decades, Madeleine has developed and maintained a strategic international profile in the field of Art and Design Education, combined with very strong interdisciplinary links to Technology Enhanced Learning (TEL). These linkages, and the collaborations that they support, have enabled her to contribute to key research employing visual methodologies and creative practices - both within and outside of Art and Design Education. For example, her interdisciplinary work involving Technology Enhanced Learning and creative practices has addressed many under-researched themes, including informal learning, vocational education and social justice education. These areas of research address a significant gap and help to understand the importance of visual methods and creative practices for diverse disciplines. The UK Research Councils, notably the ESRC and EPSRC, have both extensively funded and recognised this work.

Madeleine’s current research interests in Art and Design Education are built around engagement in key strategic themes, and have been developed as an internationally focused programme of research. This includes theoretical and methodological innovation, and extensive empirical findings. The work of this interdisciplinary programme of research (involving the creative practices) includes:

- The development of advanced research methodologies for investigating learning and communities
- Innovative approaches to educational and social justice interventions using advanced technologies for learning
- Meeting economic and social needs with advanced learning technologies
- Developing communities for learning and social development with advanced technologies
- Elucidating ethical aspects of technology enhanced learning
- Developing virtual environments and creative practices to support and enhance psychological well-being

Rita L. Irwin is a Professor of Art Education and Curriculum Studies at the University of British Columbia, Vancouver, BC, Canada. Rita received her formal education at the University of Lethbridge (B. Ed. and Diploma), the University of Victoria (M.Ed.) and the University of British Columbia (Ed.D.). Rita has been an educational leader for a number of provincial, national and international organizations including being President of the Canadian Society for the Study of Education, Canadian Association of Curriculum Studies, Canadian Society for Education through Art, International Society for Education through Art and Chair of the World Alliance for Arts Education. Her research interests have spanned in-service art education, teacher education, socio-cultural issues, and curriculum practices across K-12 and informal learning settings. Rita publishes widely, exhibits her artworks, and has secured a range of research grants, including a number of Social Science and Humanities Research Council of Canada grants to support her work in Canada, Australia, Africa and Taiwan.

She is best known for her work in a/r/tography that expands how we might imagine and conduct arts practice based research methodologies through collaborative and community-based collectives. Several of her edited books are widely used: Curriculum in a New Key: The Collected Works of Ted T. Aoki (co-edited with William F. Pinar), Revisions: Readings in Canadian Art Teacher Education (co-edited with Kit Grauer & Mike Emme), and Being with A/r/tography (co-edited with Stephanie Springgay, Carl Leggo & Peter Gouzouasis). Rita is an artist, researcher, and teacher deeply committed to the arts, curriculum studies and education. In recognition of her many accomplishments and commitments, she has received a number of awards for her teaching, service and scholarship including the distinction of Distinguished Fellow of the National Art Education Association, the Ted T. Aoki Award for Distinguished Service in Canadian Curriculum Studies, the inaugural Canadian Art Teacher of the Year Award, the Killam Award for Excellence in Mentoring from The University of British Columbia, and the Elliot Eisner Lifetime Achievement (NAEA).

While her life in the education has offered her tremendous opportunities she is especially proud of the many research creation projects she has pursued with her arts education colleagues and graduate students. It is in this space of living inquiry through the arts, curriculum studies and education that has sustained her very being.
Alexandra joined the School of Education, Southern Cross University [SCU] in July of 2011 as a Lecturer in Arts education, after 25 years as a secondary Visual Arts educator. Alexandra’s passion is located within the Arts, specifically the Visual Arts, as artist, researcher, educator and teacher educator. She is currently Research Leader of the Creativity, Arts and Education Research Group [CreArE] at SCU.

Alexandra has engaged in many leadership roles since entering her second career as an academic. These include World Councilor for the International Society of Education through Art [InSEA], Chair for the Arts-Based Educational Research Special Interest Group [ABER SIG] for the American Educational Research Association [AERA] and Program Chair for the Arts-Based Educational Research Special Interest Group [ABER SIG] for the American Educational Research Association [AERA] 2015-2016. She is also past Editor of Australian Art Education Journal (2014-2016) and Editor of three book series, Studies in Arts-based Educational Research (Springer), SpringerBriefs in Arts-based Educational Research (Springer) and Palgrave Studies in Movement and Space across Education (Palgrave Macmillan). She has also previously served as Director, Teaching & Learning and Honours Course Coordinator in the School of Education at SCU.

Alexandra is recognized nationally for her teaching and research in Arts education, most recently as Researcher of the Year (2015) in the School of Education at SCU, and as recipient of the prestigious OLT (Office for Learning and Teaching, Australian Government) Citation for Outstanding Contribution to Student Learning (2014). She is highly sought after as an inspirational speaker for keynotes, on panels, symposia and as visiting scholar. As Founder and Leader of the CreArE Research Group, she is actively building an expanding team of Arts and education Higher Degree Research students, and consequently, SCU is becoming renowned internationally as a lively and innovative hub for Arts-based educational research. Alexandra’s first book Displacement, Identity and Belonging: An Auto/Biographical, Arts-based Portrayal of Ethnicity and Experience (Sense), is based upon her award winning doctoral work. She is currently writing the sequel to this work, an unheard of innovation in academic publishing.
Glen Coutts trained at Glasgow School of Art and Jordanhill College of Education in Scotland. He taught art and design in secondary (high) schools for 10 years and has spent the last 25 years or so in universities, in teacher education and in community-based art and environmental education. He is currently Professor of Applied Visual Arts at the University of Lapland in Finland. He was Reader in art and design education at the University of Strathclyde in Glasgow until April 2010.

A Past President of the National Society of Education in Art and Design (2006-7), he writes regularly about issues in art education and is Vice President of the International Society for Education through Art (2014-2017). In his role as Vice President, he is responsible for coordinating three working groups: research, praxis and publications. In addition, he coordinates the applied visual arts group of the Arctic Sustainable Arts and Design network - a research focus network of the University of the Arctic. Coordinating the Relate North symposia, exhibitions and publications is also a part of his work.

Prof. Coutts is Principal Editor of the International Journal of Education through Art. His teaching and research focuses on the interface between formal and informal art education and, particularly, the pedagogical potential of community based art practices. In 2016, he was awarded the Ziegfeld Award for outstanding international leadership in art education by the United States Society for Education through Art.

This workshop lets participants experience the Arts in Education (AiE) programs, especially focused on ‘Arts Plus’ for elementary students, which have been in operation at over 300 schools in Seoul. The workshop will focus on the AiE’s methodological principles, which form the basis of the aesthetic experience in public education. Participants will gain firsthand experience with theories, cases, know-how, and team teaching style of the AiE, which combines major subjects such as Korean language, mathematics, and social studies with a multiplicity of artistic genres including visual arts, play, and dance. Seoul’s extensively experienced Teaching Artists (TA) will lead the workshop.

1. Definition of aesthetic experience and integrated arts education in Seoul’s AiE, and introduction of its elements
3. Modeling the arts integration curriculum using the development method
4. Discussion and Q & A

Arts can be understood by not only vision but also tactile, hearing, smelling, tasting perception. Also, everyone has the equal right to enjoy the pleasure of appreciation and creation. So children and adults with visually impairments or blindness should be educated through arts to communicate with people, events, and the environment surrounding them.

In the first part of this workshop, participants will understand the development of art education for the blind in Taiwan. Then, the organizer will give a brief introduction of audio description, and the cases of how artists without vision to create arts. Next, participants will learn how to interpret an image and visual information for blind people via descriptive video service, then being blindfolded to draw after touching tactile pictures and 3D objects. All participants will be distributed in a small group to practice recognizing images and drawing pictures by touching and hearing.

After this workshop, all participants can share their blindfolded experiences and feelings without sight. Non-visual arts not only design for blind persons, but also for the sighted. So, teachers can transfer creating experience in the dark to figure out multi-sensory art courses for students, and the skill of audio description also assists students to create imagination without visual perception.
Dear You is a cross-cultural mail art project created for children aged 4-15 years old. The aim of Dear You is to connect children internationally by making and sharing art with new friends from abroad. Through this process of exchange, a child’s worldview is widened and their skills for self expression are honed. The workshop, Dear You: connecting spaces, will be held in the form of a combined seminar/art practice. Arlene Tucker, author and workshop facilitator, will give insight into Dear You’s methodology in order for workshop participants to utilize and engage in transnational collaborations.

This special Dear You InSea experience will be presented in two major parts. The first section proposes process-based art practices and the second focuses on the application of semiotic concepts in educational and artistic projects. Betwixt the variety of hands-on activities, we will discuss how one can create their own functioning participatory design-based projects, which empower students and educators through open dialogue. There will be an opportunity for the development of and practical application of the proposed techniques. The workshop, as a whole, is intended to be informal, interactive, and immediately applicable.

Though most art education programs list creativity as a major goal, analysis of actual practice suggests that art curriculum does not always provide sheltered and open spaces in which deep, idiosyncratic creative capacities can be manifested and fostered.

Join us as we convene a Surrealist Bureau of Educational Research to investigate and generate alternative visions for joyous and evocative art making communities. Reclaim your creative rights by engaging in authentic Surrealist methods of engaging images and words to access the individual and collective unconscious. Recall that all creativity generates anxiety and consider how to support our students, colleagues, and communities as they meet and manage the conflicted characters of their own creative unconscious.

In times when rational-linear approaches to human progress encounter many impediments, gaming and playing together may become the avenue to reach for new visions. Shrug off old pedagogical habits. Stop curmudgeonly curriculum. Cultivate our capacities to imagine odd, inspirational, silly, wild, irreverent, bizarre and marvelous things.

Why put so much energy into cultivating the imaginary? Perhaps the best answer is in the words.

This paper mainly observes and recognizes the connection, interaction and common development of the art education curriculum and society from the angle of the open of the school art education. Simultaneously, combining the education traits in the big data era closely, it understands the new type of relationship among students, society, arts, spirit and growth from various angles. Also, it promotes schools, society and families to think cautiously over several art education problems, considering correlative case researches.

I will use many flat dishes at this workshop. I would like to think about the new relationship between people and the environment, people and art using naturally friendly materials.

The theme is The impression that was born to the world. Everyday, people around the world use flat dishes at meals. I regard the plate as one small gallery this time. I would like to arrange a lot of this little gallery with the participants and create a big work (place). The material uses soil clay and another unique material (packing material that can be adhered only with moisture). Participants will make small sculptures using these materials. Then we will exhibit it on a flat dish. Easy preparation and way, participants can enjoy it enough for a short time.

What kind of diversity, communication and collaboration can be found?

Through this workshop, I am looking forward to meeting the participants’ ideas, and for making wonderful communication beyond words. Let’s experience the power of art.

The purpose of this workshop is to understand cultural diversity through learning colors and its meanings formulated by their nationality, regions, nature and so on.

We are surrounded by various Colors, e.g. Nature Color (climate, seasons, etc.), Culture Color (traditional culture, clothing, food culture, ceremonial occasion, etc.), and Society Color (gender, LGBT, politics, economics, education, digital world, disabilities, etc.).

For example, in Korea, five colors of yellow, blue, white, red, black, called Obangsaek, have been used since ancient times. In China, four colors are used to represent the orientation.

In Japan, the color scheme called Kasane no Irome (Combination of colors created by layering of garments (Colours)) expresses the change of four seasons.

Please bring some objects contained typical colors which represents your nationality, regions, nature to our workshop if it is possible, for example, clothes, fabrics, Photograph, postcard, sweets, general merchandise, etc.

We are looking forward to you participate, produce a new understand and exchange much together.

The procedure of this workshop is below:
- Introduction and Grouping
- Find a characteristic of colors of countries
- Discussion
- Design a flag of Art Education
- Presentation and Exchange
- Closing

Sumi-ink, Washi-Japanese paper, and water can create a variety of tones such as spreading and cracking by their harmony. We called this Workshop Sumi art and planned that the teachers would fell the wonder and the beauty of Sumi.

During this workshop, we practiced three techniques as follows,
1. The touch to occupy the paper nature of Sumi-ink.
2. The spreading nature of Sumi-ink.
3. Sumi-ink with Hake (a wide paintbrush)

Workshop-11  |  Raising Self-Efficacy Beliefs Motivation and Drawing Skills of Elementary Teachers of Art for the Purposes of Better Teaching

The workshop with ten short drawing tasks aimed at raising the motivation (self-efficacy beliefs construct) of participants and to improve their drawing skills, although in a very short period of 46 – 60 minutes. Actually, the participants will simulate one of the life-long learning drawing and motivating strategies that author uses in his in-service training of elementary teachers of art in Slovenia in the period of last 13 years.

The underlying theoretical construct of this workshop is based on the motivational concept of self-efficacy beliefs, originated by Albert Bandura. Art education advisers, teacher trainers and teachers themselves may find this approach as challenging for their work in art teaching, and can adapt it into their learning situations and age of students. Art education students may find this workshop as a motivation for their further art pedagogy studies.

Participants will be firstly given 10 sheets of A4 size paper and a pencil, softness B2 - B6, will secondly realize drawings according to his instructions. The educational purpose of the task will not be revealed at the beginning but at the final evaluation, based on the drawing collections of participant volunteers.

Several criteria for determining the success of the workshop will be presented.

Quipus are the records of the INCAS, in which, through ropes with knots, they accounted for taxes and recorded co-occurrences that should not be forgotten (stories, songs, prayers and others). These records could store as much data as a P.C. of the early 21st century. After a brief introduction the participants will know about the importance of the quipus for pre-Columbian people in South America and how they handled information.

Next, they will write some desires on pieces of paper, which will be tied to strings, forming a collective quipu.

This great quipu can be placed in the space where the Congress is held.
This symposium brings together authors contributing to two soon to be published books examining International Perspectives on Visual Arts Education Dissertations. In turn we hope to invite cross-cultural and transnational dialogues concerning international arts research by bringing together a scholarly community of NABERS (Networks of Arts-Based Educational Researchers) to foster critical debates and critical practices about art as research from diverse educational standpoints, frameworks and methods of practice.

This research symposium aims to bring forward conversations on how art educators and doctoral students are thinking about and applying ABER within differently contextualized socio-cultural and organizational environments.

Such comparisons have significant implications for academics, students and policy makers and will factor into the sustainability of art education as a field of study given the changing role of universities globally. While a number of questions will be addressed at the symposium these three may guide initial discussions:

How is ABER being implemented alongside traditional research in art education doctoral programs internationally to widen theoretical and methodological debates? What institutional protocols and structures are applied to assess ABER projects? What actions, tensions and experiences rooted in specific cultural contexts and/or the geopolitics of institutional location and practice delineate ABER?

지학사의 새로운 얼굴입니다!

지학사의 새로운 아이덴티티 디자인은 지학사의 역사와 가치 그리고 현재와 미래의 모습을 담고 있습니다. 시간이 지나도 변하지 않고 이어온 '배움에 뜻을 둔 이들의 빛'이 되고자 하는 지학사의 비전을 모티브 삼아 '책, 그 위로 떠오르는 밝은 빛'을 표현했습니다.
지학사는 배움에 뜻을 둔 이들과 함께 꿈과 희망을 나누며, 더 새롭고 더 밝게 빛나겠습니다.

미래엔은 교과서로 세상을 담합니다
그렇기에 우리에게 선생님은 각별합니다.
선생님은 우리가 만들고자 하는 교과서의
가장 아름다운 표지이기 때문입니다.

미래엔에게 선생님은 교과서입니다
지금까지 그렸듯 우리는 미래에도
선생님, 당신과 함께 대한민국 교육을 만들어 가겠습니다.

Life is full of stories interconnecting various episodes from the past to the future.

The prologue of today,
the climax of tomorrow,
and the epilogue of the day.

At these phases,
we will always be with you.
